NCFAA CONTRIBUTIONS TO COLLEGE FOOTBALL AWARD

The National College Football Awards Association created the Contributions to College Football Award to recognize exceptional contributions to the sport. The award is presented to an individual who has been closely associated with college football as a player, coach, administrator, media personality or other position attendant to the game.

Five legendary coaches from Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) were honored in 2018: Rod Broadway, the only coach to win a black college national championship at three different schools – North Carolina A&T, Grambling and North Carolina Central; Marino “The Godfather” Casem, who won seven SWAC Championships as head coach at Alcorn State; Archie “The Gunslinger” Cooley, head coach at Mississippi Valley State, Arkansas-Pine Bluff, Norfolk State, and Paul Quinn and inducted into the SWAC Hall of Fame in 2007; Bill Hayes, the winningest coach at Winston-Salem State and North Carolina A&T; and Willie Jeffries, head coach at South Carolina State, Wichita State and Howard and the first African-American head coach of a Division I-A program at a predominately white school.

Following are the distinguished recipients of the award, which is presented at The Home Depot College Football Awards again this year at the College Football Hall of Fame in Atlanta:

Named After ...

Former Arkansas walk-on turned All-American Brandon Burlsworth. When Burlsworth arrived on campus in 1994, he had no money, no famous last name, and absolutely no Division I scholarship offers. Through his unbelievable work ethic and ceaseless determination, Brandon not only earned a scholarship, but became team captain, All-SEC (1997-98), First Team All-SEC (1998), Football News First Team All-American in 1998, and the first All-American from the University of Arkansas in a decade. His success was not limited to the gridiron. He was also named to the All-SEC Academic Honor Roll every year from 1995-98, and was the first football player in the entire history of his university to earn a Masters degree "before" playing his last game.

Brandon was selected by the Indianapolis Colts as the 63rd overall pick in the 1999 NFL draft. After minicamp, he was projected by his coaches to start as a rookie. Unfortunately, Brandon was tragically killed in a head-on automobile collision just 11 days after the draft.

Voting Procedures

A distinguished selection committee made up of former players and coaches votes on athletes that are nominated from their FBS schools.

Additional Information

The University of Arkansas has an endowment in Burlsworth's name. Multiple $5,000 academic scholarships, and one $10,000 walk-on athletic scholarship are awarded each year. The Brandon Burlsworth Foundation is engaged in various charitable endeavors including hosting underprivileged children at Arkansas Razorbacks and Indianapolis Colts games. The foundation also provides free eye exams and glasses to over one thousand less fortunate children each year. In 2010, the Burlsworth Trophy was created to honor the achievements and successes of the Walk-On athlete.

Named After ...

Paul Hornung, a native and lifelong resident of Louisville and member of the College and Pro Football Halls of Fame. Hornung is considered by many the most versatile player in the history of college and pro football. He won the 1956 Heisman Trophy at quarterback for Notre Dame and was the number one pick in the 1957 NFL Draft. He played every position in the backfield during his career with the Irish, where he also punted, kicked, returned kicks and played defensive back. While in the NFL, Hornung was a multi-threat offensive back and prolific kicker. He was a member of four NFL championship teams as an All-Pro halfback for the Green Bay Packers and led the NFL in scoring in three seasons (1959-60-61), set the single-season scoring record in 1960 with 176 points and was named the league's MVP following the 1961 season.

Voting Procedures

The mission of the Paul Hornung Award is to recognize and reward versatile, high-level performers in major college football (Football Bowl Subdivision team members); to help preserve the legacy of one of Louisville's native sons and sports icons; and to promote Louisville as a great sports town. A panel of college football experts creates a watch list of approximately 50 players. Additionally, Louisville Sports Commission staff and outside experts select and recognize outstanding performers each week during the course of the season. After Week 11 of the regular season, a panel of college football experts creates a candidate list of approximately 10-15 players based on performance during the season. The Paul Hornung Award Selection Committee chooses the finalists and ultimately the winner from the candidate list. For the actual selection, a 17-member Selection Committee votes for finalists in mid-November. Fan voting powered by Texas Roadhouse accounts for the 18th vote. The Selection Committee chooses the winner in early December from among the finalists after they compete in bowl games.

RIMINGTON TROPHY

Presented to the Nation's Premier Center

Presented By

Michelle Pelini (Media Contact)
Program Communications Director
Office 646-292-7946
Cell 859-628-4040
mpelini@esiason.org

Named After ...

Dave Rimington, the only two-time winner of the Outland Trophy (1981 and '82) and considered by many as the best college lineman of all time. Rimington was also the 1982 Lombardi Award winner, a two-time All-American, and is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. Rimington went on to play seven years in the NFL with the Cincinnati Bengals and Philadelphia Eagles from 1983-90. He currently serves as President of the Boomer Esiason Foundation which raises money for the fight against cystic fibrosis.

Voting Procedures

While more than a dozen All-America teams are selected annually, the Rimington Trophy committee uses these three prestigious teams to determine a winner: Walter Camp Football Foundation, Sporting News, and Football Writers Association of America.

Because the selectors of these three All-America teams can place centers in a "mix" of offensive linemen that includes guards and tackles, their 11-man first teams can often have two centers. The Rimington Trophy committee's policy is to count all players that play primarily the center position for their respective teams as centers, even though they may be listed as guards or tackles on the four All-America teams.

The center with the most first team votes will be determined the winner. If there is a tie with first team votes, then the center with the most second team votes will win. If there is still a tie, the winner will be determined by a majority vote from the Rimington Trophy committee.

Additional Information

All proceeds from the Rimington Trophy aid in the fight against cystic fibrosis. To date, the Rimington Trophy has raised over $4.2 million for the cystic fibrosis community. In addition to the award for the most outstanding center at the Division I FBS level, the Rimington Trophy committee also recognizes the top centers from Division I FCS, Division II, Division III and the NAIA. In 2005, the Rimington Trophy presented the inaugural President Gerald R. Ford Legends Award, which recognizes former college or pro football centers who have achieved excellence in the football community or through philanthropic or business endeavors.

Additional Information

Uplifting Athletes is a nonprofit organization that inspires the rare disease community with hope through the power of sport. Our national network of chapters is run by current football student-athletes.

What makes Uplifting Athletes unique is that our chapter network is run by current football student-athletes, providing them with an opportunity to gain practical job skills while learning how to leverage their assets and abilities to make a positive and lasting impact.

A rare disease is one that affects fewer than 200,000 Americans and consequently lacks financial incentive to make and market new treatments. Each chapter adopts one out of approximately 7,000 rare diseases (such as MS, ALS, cystic fibrosis, pancreatic cancer, etc.) – giving the football student-athletes an opportunity to make the cause relevant to them. We currently have chapters at 25 different universities.

The success of this initial effort, college football's lack of a cause-marketing relationship and the overwhelming needs of the rare disease community has led to the evolution of Uplifting Athletes. We are a 501(c)3 nonprofit with four primary service programs – outreach, research, education and advocacy. The benefits to the college football student-athletes include the aspects of professional development and social engagement. We are currently expanding our network of university chapters within select major football programs. University chapters of Uplifting Athletes are set-up as registered student organizations, run by current football student-athletes and benefit a rare disease that is relevant to their team. Each chapter plans and hosts special events to help make their rare disease more popular.

Campbell Trophy) and graduated with high honors. In 2004, he retired from professional football to work in New Orleans with Desire Street Ministries, a faith-based, non-profit organization in one of America's toughest and poorest neighborhoods.

About the Award

Created in 2005, the Wuerffel Trophy is the only major college football award that places the majority of its voting emphasis on Community Service. Also measured in the criteria of the nominees is performance in the classroom. Danny said of his feelings of the Wuerffel Trophy upon inception, "It will inspire other people to be community minded, to live for others, to sacrifice their own interests for the benefit of the community and other people." We are proud to work in harmony with the Chick-fil-A Foundation to award the Wuerffel Trophy each year, presented to the FBS football player that best combines exemplary community service with academic and athletic achievement.

Criteria

Community Service: The nominee must have sustained, measurable and documented community service submitted, along with a university contact to verify the submission; Community service may be local, statewide, national or international; The most heavily weighted of the three criteria that the national selection committee reviews; Community Service constitutes 50 percent or more of the committee's decision when voting. First-team player and major contributor: Additional consideration to those that have been voted All-Conference/All-American. On-the-field performance constitutes up to 25 percent of the committee's voting decision. Academic: A grade point average of 3.0 is preferred for nomination, although lower GPAs are still given consideration. Additional weight may be given based upon college, major field of study, etc. Academics constitutes up to 25 percent of the committee's voting decision.
